HAWORTH

The office world is a stage

Communication at the office is characterized by constantly changing sets. The protagonists, the setting, the requirements and the goals change and develop in an unforeseeable order.

HAWORTH

The office world is a stage

With Planes we have successfully developed an “all room product” concept – a layout that is open to all sides – that offers the right props for each set, allowing the users to create a new layout each day.

The office world is a stage

Thus, Planes is suited for all areas where people come together; in seminars, meetings, and conferences. Planes offers great appeal through its fresh and light look and its versatility, thus ensuring maximum flexibility.

Flip-Top Tables

The system was designed for mobile use. The worksurface can be folded into a vertical position by releasing the locking mechanism. This allows for storing or transporting a large number of tables with a minimum of space required.
